Media Outlets Covering Georgia

The Georgia Gym Dogs have been a regular on television in recent seasons. In the last eight years, 45 of the 50 regular-season meets in Stegeman Coliseum were televised, including all six in 2011.

Additionally, Fox Sports filmed an in-depth special on the Gym Dogs that aired during the 2008 season. This "Under the Lights" segment on the Gym Dogs marked the first women's sports team to be featured by this program.

In 2012, Georgia will have the majority of its regular-season meets televised on ESPN, CSS and FSN.

The Jay Clark Gym Dogs Show

For all the latest happenings with the Gym Dogs program, fans can tune into the Jay Clark Gym Dogs Show, premiering weekly on Comcast Sports Southeast. It also airs weekly on georgiadogs.com.

Now in its 14th season, the show gives an in-depth review of the Gym Dogs' prior meet and offers features on individual members of the Georgia gymnastics team and on facets of the program.

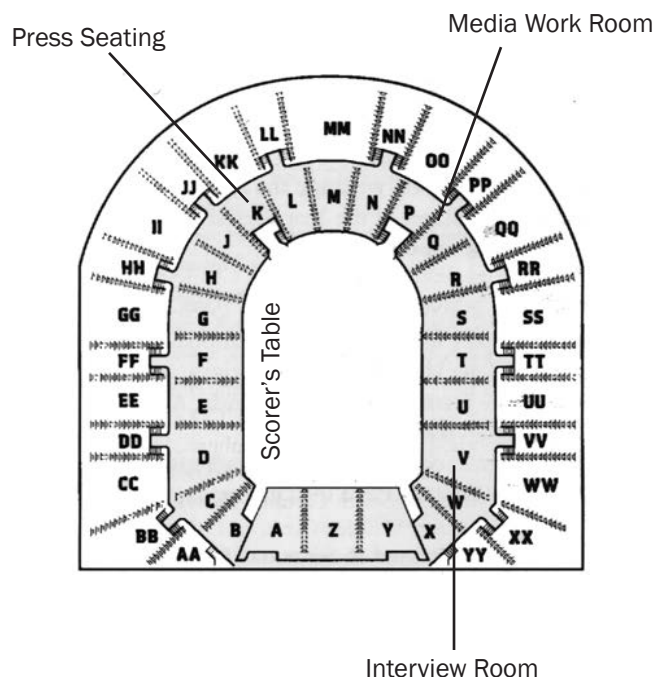

Postmeet Interviews

Following a 10-minute cooling off period at home meets, Georgia head coach Jay Clark and requested student-athletes will be available for interviews in the Equestrian locker room, which is located outside tunnel 4. Gym Dogs On A Mission In 2012

By simply walking into the Suzanne Yoculan Gymnastics Center, it's easy to see the standard the Georgia Gym Dogs have set for themselves.

Banners from 10 NCAA Championships hang from the ceiling along with paintings of 61 gymnasts who have earned a total of 318 All-America honors. A display in the middle of the gym lists Georgia's 16 SEC Championships.

It has been nearly 40 years since the program's inception in 1973, and the expectations are the same now as they were in 1987 when Georgia captured its first national title and in 2009 when Georgia became the first program to reach double-digit NCAA crowns.

"We walk in every day and understand the standard we've set over the last 20 years," said third-year head coach Jay Clark. "The goals and intentions of this program have not changed."

The 2011 season turned into an injury management season for the Gym Dogs, who struggled to even field a full lineup in some meets. Still, Georgia returned to the NCAA Championships and finished ninth nationally.

"We expect to take another step forward this year," Clark said. "Our goal is to get things back to where our fans' expectations are and to what we expect from ourselves."

Senior Kat Ding returns as the reigning NCAA uneven bars champion.

Georgia returns 11 gymnasts from last year's squad including reigning NCAA uneven bars champion Kat Ding, who scored a 9.9 or higher in 10 out of 14 bar routines last year and could compete in the all-around. She is one of three seniors on the 2012 squad along with Mariel Box and Gina Nuccio.

The Gym Dogs also return 2011 All-Americans Noel Couch and Lindsey Cheek. Couch competed in the all-around in every meet last year, and Cheek became the first Georgia freshman to earn All-American honors on vault since 2006.

Also returning are juniors Christa Tanella and Shayla Worley, who have been key parts of Georgia's bars, beam and floor lineups.

"Shayla has the potential to step forward as a junior," Clark said. "She has shown a tremendous amount of growth in terms of her leadership within the team. To this point of the preseason, she has been more consistent than I've seen her since she's been here."

The Gym Dogs will also have the services of a pair of gymnasts who missed their first seasons in 2011 due to injuries. Kaylan Earls, who was on track to be in the lineup on three events in 2011, ruptured her left Achilles tendon two weeks prior to the season and missed her entire freshman year. The two-time Junior Olympic all-around champion will make her Gym Dog debut in 2012.

Another 2011 freshman, Bekah Bennetts, underwent ankle reconstruction surgery after arriving at UGA last fall and is expected to contribute as a vault specialist.

The Gym Dogs could also see key contributions from sophomores Cat Hires and Laura Moffatt, who had strong finishes to the 2011 season, in addition to junior Kati Breazeal, who will provide depth on the balance beam.

"We have a workman-like group and a lot of role players. We think if everybody knows their role and fills their role, we can compete with anybody. We are excited about that. It will be interesting to see if we have anybody on this team who steps up to the forefront and becomes that superstar. I do believe we have a couple of people who have that potential."

"We expect to take another step forward this year. Our goal is to get things back to where our fans' expectations are and to what we expect from ourselves."
-Jay Clark

Clark, who last year was named the ninth-best recruiter in all of college sports, is bringing in five freshmen to the fold this season including Chelsea Davis, Demetria

Hunte, Whitney

Kirby, Sarah Persinger and Camille Pfister. Davis, Persinger and Pfister joined the team in the fall, while Hunte and Kirby will enroll in January.

"Chelsea and Sarah could have an impact on all four events," Clark said. "That's what we need is someone who can come in and give us depth on all four events. We anticipate great things from both of them."

"We think we have a group that really came together at an early point in the year. Rather than rallying when they have to, they seem to be coming together now and they seem to be on a mission. We've had years where we won a championship and didn't have the best talent, and we've had years where we won it just based on our chemistry and the character of our team. We feel like we have good character with this bunch."

Georgia opens the season at home against Denver on Jan. 6. The Gym Dogs face a tough road slate with meets at 2011 Super Six teams Alabama, Michigan and Utah in addition to a meet at Florida.

Noel Couch was an All-American on vault, floor and the all-around in 2011.

Jay Clark

Head Coach

Third Season

Jay Clark enters his third season as Georgia's head coach and his 20th year overall in the gymnastics program. After spending 17 years as an assistant on the Gym Dogs' staff including five as associate head coach, Clark made his head coaching debut in 2010.

The sixth head coach in the Gym Dogs' 39-year history, Clark has helped build one of the most dominant programs in all of college sports. Since 1986, Georgia has won 10 national championships, 16 Southeastern Conference titles and 21 NCAA Regional crowns.

In 2011, Clark was named by ESPNU and ESPN The Magazine as the ninth best recruiter in all of college sports.

Clark succeeded Suzanne Yoculan, under whom he served as an assistant while overseeing the Gym Dogs' success on the uneven bars. He was a Georgia assistant from 1990-1996 and from 1998-2004 before serving as associate head coach from 2005-2009. As head coach, Clark has continued to lead Georgia's bar performers in addition to coordinating the recruiting efforts.

Under Clark's direction in 2011, Georgia gymnast Kat Ding won the program's nation-leading 38th NCAA individual title and 10th on the uneven bars. He also led the Gym Dogs back to the NCAA Championships for the 27th time. UGA tied for the most representatives on the All-SEC First Team with five, and Georgia finished the season ranked in the top 10 nationally on vault, bars and beam.

With Clark at the helm in 2010, Georgia was statistically among the top teams in the country throughout the season. At the end of the regular season, the Gym Dogs ranked in the top 10 in each of the four events including second on balance beam, fourth on bars, sixth on floor and 10th on vault. Three Gym Dogs claimed SEC individual titles and two more were runners-up. Also in 2010, the Gym Dogs' Academic Progress Rate was best in the SEC.

In 2009, Clark's efforts helped Courtney Kupets, Grace Taylor and Ding earn All-America honors on bars. Kupets was also the SEC champion on bars and claimed the title at the NCAA Southeast Regional. Earlier in the season, she recorded the program's 26th perfect 10.0 on the uneven bars.

In 2008, Clark coached Katie Heenan, Tiffany Tolany and Taylor to All-America honors on bars. Tolnay and Taylor were SEC champions on bars, matching the league record of 9.95, while Heenan claimed the bars title at the NCAA Regional. In 2006, Kupets became the fourth Georgia gymnast to win an NCAA uneven bars title, joining Kelly Macy in 1991, Agina Simpkins in 1993 and Lori Strong in 1994. Kupets was also one of five Gym Dogs in 2006 to be named an All-American on the bars. Georgia gymnasts have earned 21 All-America awards on the event in the last seven years.

Without question, one of the most important elements in the success of the Georgia gymnastics program is the top-level talent it is able to attract to Athens year after year. Clark oversees the process of maintaining the Gym Dogs' status among the elite and his recruiting success earned him the title of associate head coach prior to the 2005 season. He annually recruits classes that rank among the top in the nation.

Clark, a Roswell, Ga., native, returned to the Georgia program in June of 1998 after spending two years as head team coach and competitive director with the Athens-Clarke Gymnastics Academy. From 1990 to 1996, Clark was an assistant coach with the Gym Dogs before joining the staff at ACGA. When the opportunity arose, he welcomed the chance to return to Georgia.

Coordinating the gymnastics program's recruiting efforts includes corresponding with coaches and potential student-athletes, scouting at major competitions, visiting with gymnasts and their families, and arranging official university visits. Among the classes Clark is credited with recruiting are the ones of 1998 and 1999, which consisted of All-Americans Kim Arnold, Julie Ballard, Jenni Beathard, Karin Lichey, Sam Muhleman and Canadian National Team member Stacey Galloway. Those two recruiting classes are regarded as the "two best recruiting classes ever in the history of Georgia gymnastics and possibly in all of collegiate gymnastics" by Yoculan. The 2008 and 2009 classes of Heenan, Nikki Childs, Audrey Bowers and Megan Dowlen, and Paige Burns, Kupets, Abby Stack and Tolnay each finished with four straight NCAA championships.

Arnold, Beathard, Lichey and Muhleman were former U.S. National Team members. Also due in large part to Clark's efforts, Georgia signed the No. 1 recruits in 1993 (Leslie Angeles), 1994 (Arnold) and 1995 (Amanda Borden). The Gym Dogs' roster currently includes two former Olympic medalists in Kupets and Courtney McCool. In the gym, Georgia finished with an unprecedented five First-Team All-America honors on the uneven bars in the 1993 campaign. A year ago, the Gym Dogs went wire-to-wire during the season as the top team on bars.

In 2006, Clark was honored by his peers as the National Assistant Coach of the Year.

Clark coached 13 years at the club level, where his gymnasts from Classic City Gymnastics Academy were regular qualifiers for and winners of regional and national championships at USA Gymnastics Levels 8, 9 and 10. He was named the 2001 USA Gymnastics Georgia Coach of the Year.

He is a member of the National Women's Collegiate Program Committee, which makes recommendations for the rules that govern college gymnastics.

Clark earned his bachelor's degree in exercise and sport science from the University of Georgia. He is married to the former Julie Ballard, who is an assistant coach for the Gym Dogs. They have a son, Walton Cole, born Aug. 15, 2002, and a daughter, Kinsey Grace, born Dec. 15, 2005.

Julie Clark
Assistant Coach
Third Season

Julie Ballard Clark, a member of the Georgia gymnastics team from 1994-98, enters her third season as an assistant coach after spending eight years as a volunteer assistant on Suzanne Yoculan's staff and one year as the Director of Gymnastics Operations.

Clark spearheads Georgia's balance beam squad, where she helped the Gym Dogs finish fourth nationally in 2011. In 2010, Clark's first season as a full-time assistant, Georgia finished No. 2 nationally on the balance beam with a 49.300 RQS. During the 2010 season, Grace Taylor had the SEC's only perfect 10 of the season on beam.

In 2000, Clark worked as a graduate intern in the Georgia gymnastics office, where her primary duties included correspondence with alumni and parents as well as alumni event planning. Clark had a major role in the initiation of the Ten-0 Club's alumni web site, which serves as the hub of alumni relations for former Gym Dogs across the country.

From 2001-2007, Clark served as a volunteer assistant, and was then named Director of Gymnastics Operations for the 2008 season. She moved back to her role as volunteer coach in 2009 before being named assistant coach in July.

In addition to her responsibilities with the Gym Dogs, Clark formerly owned and served as promotions, marketing and general director of all programs, as well as an optional level coach and class instructor for Classic City Gymnastics Academy in Athens.

She also spent time with Competitive Resource Group, and talked with collegiate and professional athletes about life skills after their time as athletes. During her seminars she addressed athletes on how they could gain special advantages in interview settings by using the skills learned in athletics. Clark is a contract choreographer and motivational speaker for young gymnasts and children across the country. She also has a passion for sharing her faith with various groups in the community. In her years as a Gym Dog, Clark was a member of the 1998 NCAA Championship team, and received two All-America honors. Clark earned the 1995 SEC Freshman of the Year Award and was a member of the 1995 World University Games held in Japan.

Clark is a native of Mandeville, La., and graduated from the University of Georgia in 1999 with a degree in Administration in Recreation and Leisure Studies.

She is married to Gym Dogs head coach Jay Clark. They have a son, Walton Cole, born on Aug. 15, 2002, and a daughter, Kinsey Grace, born Dec. 15, 2005.

Doug McAvinn
Assistant Coach
27th Season

Doug McAvinn, a coaching veteran with more than three decades of experience under his belt, recently completed his 26th season with the University of Georgia gymnastics team. McAvinn was inducted in the USA Gymnastics Region 8 Hall of Fame in July

Over the last 26 years, McAvinn's lineups have consistently been ranked among the best in the nation. Along with six individual national vaulting champions, he has produced a total of 62 vaulting All-Americans. He was recognized for his outstanding accomplishments at Georgia when he was honored by his peers as the first NCAA National Assistant Gymnastics Coach of the Year in 1998.

As Georgia's coach on vault, McAvinn has produced six NCAA vault champions, most recently Courtney Kupets' title in 2007. Others include Hope Spivey in 1991, Heather Stepp in 1992 and 1993, Leah Brown in 1996 and Cory Fritzinger in 2001.

In 2011 McAvinn's vault lineups posted a 49.250 or higher in each of the last four meets of the season, including a 49.575 against Michigan, tied for the highest mark of any team throughout the year.

McAvinn's efforts as Georgia's vault coach helped Courtney Kupets and Tiffany Tolnay garner All-America honors in 2009. Kupets had perfect 10s on vault in the NCAA Southeast Regional, then again in the NCAA Super Six.

In 2008, McAvinn guided Katie Heenan and Marcia Newby to First-Team All-America honors on vault, while Heenan recorded a perfect 10.0 on vault in the win over Arkansas. Heenan also won the SEC title and Tolnay took the NCAA Regional title on vault.

In 2007, he guided Kupets to the NCAA vault championship and had four All-Americans in the event in Kupets, Megan Dowlen, Newby and Tolnay. At the conclusion of the regular season, his vaulting squad was No. 1 nationally in RQS rankings.

In 1996, Georgia set an incredible NCAA vaulting team record score of 49.925 at Auburn. During that same year McAvinn coached Gym Dog Kim Arnold to an NCAA first - a perfect vault season RQS of 10.00. Arnold actually repeated the feat in 1997. Also that season, Brown matched Arnold with a perfect 10.00 RQS of her own. Brown became the first gymnast to vault a front layout with a 1/2 twist in collegiate competition. The vault earned her a bronze medal at the 1997 World University Games in Italy.

McAvinn helped coach the U.S. team in the 1995 World University Games in Fukuoka, Japan, with Florida coach Judi Markell. The U.S. earned a silver-medal finish, just behind Russia. McAvinn helped guide Karin Lichey to the then-highest all-around finish by an American gymnast in the event's history - a silver medal - and former Arizona gymnast Heidi Hornbeek to a silver medal on the uneven bars and a bronze medal on the balance beam.

In 1993, McAvinn was selected as the assistant coach of the U.S. Team at the World University Games in Buffalo, N.Y. He teamed with U.S. National coach Cheryl Jarrett of Capital Gymnastics in Austin, Texas, to guide the team to a silver medal, finishing just 0.5 away from the heavily favored Ukraine team. Spivey won a bronze medal on vault and Massachusetts gymnast Tammy Marshall took a silver medal on floor exercise.

Before joining the Georgia program in 1985, McAvinn coached at the Chattooga Gymnastics School in Marietta, Ga. He began his coaching career in 1974 under Fred Martinez at the Academy of Sports in Lithonia, Ga., working with Olympic bronze medalist Kathy Johnson.

McAvinn has an impressive background as a gymnast himself. In four years at Georgia Southern, he was a national qualifier on three events: floor exercise, vault and horizontal bar. He has experience at the international level, competing against the Soviet and German national teams.

McAvinn also has a flair for art and design. His life-sized murals of Gym Dogs All-Americans color the Georgia gymnastics practice facility in the Suzanne Yoculan Center.
